

A FREE TALK BY DR. SANDRA STEINGRABER

PROTECTING OUR CHILDREN FROM ENVIRONMENTAL POLLUTION

Author whose book has been featured as an HBO movie "Living Downstream"

Friday, May 13, 2011 7:00 pm (doors open at 6:30 pm)

Clayton Ave Elementary School, 209 Clayton Ave, Vestal, NY

Dr. Sandra Steingraber is a mother, biologist, ecologist, and cancer survivor who has won the Rachel Carson award for her writing about the connection between our health and the environment. Dr. Steingraber will be available for a book signing of her new book, "Raising Elijah," following the talk.

Sponsored by Binghamton Regional Sustainability Coalition

Contact Elaine at 607-725-7785 or Karen at 607-748-7475 with questions

"This could be the most important and inspiring parenting book ever written. With fierce love and hard science, Sandra Steingraber convinces us that protecting children from the poisons that surround them cannot be left to conscientious mothers and fathers alone. It must instead become our society's highest collective priority." - Naomi Klein, author of The Shock Doctrine
